

CURE SEMINAR SERIES

FROM THE OUTSIDE IN

*DR. CAROLYN ADAMS
PROFESSOR OF GEOGRAPHY AND URBAN STUDIES, TEMPLE UNIVERSITY*

Hospitals, universities, cultural institutions and other major nonprofit institutions are driving both the economic and physical redevelopment of central Philadelphia. What are the implications of assigning substantial power over the city's future to non-profit institutions whose governing boards are dominated by residents of the suburbs? Based on her recent book, Adams will address that question.

Books will be available for purchase and the author's signature.
Lunch will be served.

*FRIDAY, JANUARY 29
12:15PM – 1:30PM
